

Mission Hills/Hillcrest Library Wants to Help You Save Water

By Charlyn Earp

Can you remember the financial institute ads that boasted whenever they spoke, everyone else listened? Well the Mission Hills Branch Library has its finger on the pulse of its community too and produces timely talks to help you weather any current problem. Now they want to help you to continue to enjoy your gardens without needing bailout money to pay your water bill. On Tuesday, May 12, at 7 p.m., Doug Kalal, a local landscape designer, will speak on "30 Great Drought Tolerant Plants for Your Garden."

Not only will Doug discuss salvias, lavenders and California native plants, but he will bring along over 60 photos in a dynamic power point to ignite your planting creativity. He will also supply a take home shopping list and introduce you to some live examples of the best drought resistant plants. The Friends of the Mission Hills-Hillcrest Branch Library will be raffling off plants that attendees can take home and plant immediately. Refreshments will be served also.

If you want to learn more about how to keep your garden beautiful without a second mortgage for the water bill, plan to attend this seminar on May 12 at the Mission Hills Branch of the San Diego Public Library, the place to find all new relevant and current information.
